Summary

Students will engage in a group-project with the aim to translate psychological theories of creativity to practice. The purpose of the project is to create an original and a functionally useful product from limited resources.

Content

In a group context, students will learn to apply theoretical knowledge to create a functionally useful product from limited resources. Here, each group will produce a creative product that will be evaluated in terms of two primary criteria: originality and functionality:

1. Originality: The idea or concept of the product should be new and that is not simply an extension of something else that already exists.
2. Functionality: The product needs to actually work or possess some degree of usefulness.
